OBJECTS AND METHODS.

The Church Home provides for children who are temporarily or permanently deprived of a home. No children are received under four years of age, no boys over six, no girls over eight, except by special vote. The children are brought up in the care and according to the doctrine of the Episcopal Church. Each case is investigated and registered, and board for the children is required when parents or friends can pay. The Home in South Boston can accommodate seventy-five children — fifty girls and twenty-five boys.

The Placing-out Department places boys and girls. Boys are placed when nine years old, in carefully selected families of Church people in the country, board is paid for them until they are old enough to be placed free, or earn wages. Girls are placed in families at whatever age seems best for each individual. They are constantly supervised by a paid visitor.

The parents or friends are visited, and all children are supervised when they leave, whether returned to their families, boarded, placed free or earning wages. When at too great a distance for visiting, supervision is by correspondence, and the rector of the parish is asked to take charge.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

There is but little for the Secretary of the Corporation to report, as the actual work and life of the Home are so thoroughly covered in the other annual reports.

At the last meeting it was voted that the revised Constitution together with the Charter and its amendments be printed; also the By-laws of the Board of Managers if they are ready and it is so desired. This has been done and copies sent to all the members on the list of officers. It may be well again to call attention to the fact that one purpose of the reorganization was that the Board of Trustees reduced in number might more readily or frequently meet, acting when so desired as an advisory Body to the Board of Managers. It may also be well worth considering holding the stated meeting of the Board on some day other than that on which the Corporation meets so that there may be more time for the consideration of subjects by the Board before their presentation to the Corporation. As at present arranged the time is too short.

Acting on the vote empowering the Treasurer to make alterations and repairs in the Home not in excess of an expenditure of $1,500. The alterations have been made as more fully stated in the Treasurer's Report.

The Home has received one legacy during the year, $1,000, from the estate of Mr. A. J. C. Sowdon.

Mrs. Charles L. Andrews, a life member and a Manager from 1855 to 1869, also Treasurer of the Board of Managers from 1867 to 1869, and Secretary 1855 to 1859 and 1864 to 1866, died during the summer, and one of our members in active service, a Trustee since 1874 and a Vice-president since the reorganization we have also lost by death, Mr. Amory A. Lawrence, through all these years an interested and generous benefactor of the Home.

REGINALD H. HOWE,

Secretary

THE CHAPEL.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

At the close of the year 1911-1912 we have 28 children in the Home. This is a smaller number than usual, but the size of the Placing Out Department is steadily increasing and then, too, our expenses this year have been too large for our resources. For the latter reason we have been obliged to draw our lines very closely and have endeavored to accept only those children who in our judgment have a distinct claim upon the Episcopal Church and a right to its help. During the summer we still further limited ourselves and took only temporary cases and none that would naturally go to the Placing Out Department. We were sorry to do this as we feel that some of our best work is being done with the boarded out children.

We have had applications for 89 children representing 54 families. Of these we have accepted 21 children representing 14 families, 2 of these being readmissions. Six applications were withdrawn and in as many cases as possible we referred the rest to other placing out agencies.

Of the 21 children admitted 9 were girls and 12 boys. Eight of these came directly to the Home and 14 were boarded out. In providing for these children our aim has been to do our best to preserve the existing family tie and devise some means of bringing them together again, or when the tie must be broken to consider what we can do to supply something in its place.

The remainder of this report concerns chiefly the children in the Home as the Placing Out Committee reports in detail upon the boarded out children in another section. Also a list of statistics will be found at the end of the report.

We have had a splendid health record this year, and with the exceptions of one case of scarlet fever sent at once to the City Hospital, one of appendicitis and one of pneumonia, we have had no serious illnesses. Our children are in good condition and in several instances there has been a marked improvement in their health after a few weeks in the Home. On the other hand we have one child who developed tubercular glands after being in the Home for nearly two years. She is now boarded in the country where excellent care is being taken of her. This, we feel, is added proof of the wisdom of the Admission Committee in planning to place out the child who needs especial care.

The Home is essentially a Church Home and we lay great stress upon the religious life and the training in our Episcopal services. In December three of the girls in the Home and two who had left some time before were confirmed, and we have a splendid Candidates Class of the Girls' Friendly Society.

The children all go to the neighboring public schools and this summer as usual the older girls had classes in sewing and laundering and all had gardening. They also made daily trips to the South Boston bathing beach and the City Mission took them twice a week to Mothers Rest at Revere Beach. They went also several times to the parks. In August, too, at Mr. Bradley's invitation Miss Hauser and Miss Center with 20 children spent one day at the Farm School on Thompson's Island. Mr. Parker, who conducts the boy's outing classes, also went for the morning, and they had a glorious day-

Many of our graduates return to the Home for Founder's Day and other Holidays, and this August several were back on visits. Among them was one girl who is married and another who is training in the Child's Hospital in Albany.

This is the brighter side of the life. Our great anxiety is for the children who go from this comfortable home into a world of which they are almost ignorant. This applies chiefly of course to those who stayed in the Home for long periods of time. (Twelve of our 22 girls now in the Home have been there from 3 to 8½ years.)

As soon as a child is admitted we try to keep in close touch with the family so that we can see that the plan made in the beginning is carried out. Sometimes circumstances arise which make new arrangements necessary, but always we try to consider the children as members of their own family and not merely of the Church Home.

We return children to their parents or relatives when possible in order to reunite the family, and after they have gone back we visit them at intervals varying in frequency according to the need of the individual; and this supervision is continued until we feel sure that the child is satisfactorily settled. We find upon research that in 24 cases children of the same family are divided. This seems a dreadful thing, but in some instances it cannot be avoided. Often it happens that when a family has to be broken up some relative is able to care for one or two but not for all. But in 11 cases we are glad to say we have the whole number of children of a family either together in the Home or boarded together in a family.

The care of the children in the Home engages the full time of two matrons and seven servants including the janitor, and the work of investigation and placing out the full time of two trained visitors, besides the help of a stenographer at various times during the year.

Every year new problems arise in regard to the children and we hope that, as in the past we have adjusted our methods to meet new conditions, so in the future we may choose wisely the way in which we can best care for the children who need our help.

Mrs. Beal's resignation from the office of Treasurer was accepted with regret and great appreciation of her faithful and efficient services for so many years. Mrs. William Amory is most ably taking her place.

ELEANOR S. TUCKER LEE, Secretary.

REPORT OF PLACING-OUT AND DISMISSION COMMITTEE.

The work of this Committee for placing out our boys over nine years of age has continued on the same lines as for several years past. The boys are visited once a month by the Visitors and then a report is made by them to the Committee the Wednesday before the monthly meeting of the Board of Managers. Any cases requiring action or a vote by the full board are presented then. From personal observation of 16 out of our 20 homes scattered in 12 towns, I find them very satisfactory, and I feel that the boys placed in them have the best chance for acquiring health and a good start in life. It seems to me that when placed in well populated districts such as North Salem, Roslindale or Dorchester they seem brighter and more alert than those in the very small out of the way towns, and equally healthy. The schools are larger and better, the churches more attractive, and there is more to stimulate a boy's ambition, and more diversions in the way of interscholastic sports, etc. One boy is a drummer in his school fife and drum corps, and he even earns a little money at times when they are hired to play at some local outing. Most of them also sing in their church choirs.

These nearby places also are more accessible for the visiting, and there is small expense in reaching them and in bringing the boys to town for the dentist, etc.

I know of few pleasanter occasions than a visit to a really good home, where the boys are doing well and there are no complaints on either side.

The increased cost of living tells in this work also, and lately we have had the price of board raised in two homes where we have had boys for many years. There is also the question of increased expense for boys who want to continue their education after the grammar school, of whom there seem to be an increasing number ; it means that we board and clothe them for three or four years longer than if they were placed on a farm where a normal boy can earn free board in return for his work by the time he is 14 years old. But all boys are not meant to be farmers, and we want to give them a chance in the direction in which we think they are most likely to succeed. We have one boy attending the Mechanical Arts School, he wants to be an electrician, and another taking a manual training course at a High School, he wants to be a carpenter and contractor. A fund for helping such boys is very much needed, it is our hope that we may receive some contributions for it.

We have had our usual worries about some of our boys ; one, in particular, we have worked over for two years, having to change his places continually, paying extra board for extra care and watching, and always giving him "one more chance." But even so, he seemed to be steadily developing into a young criminal, and becoming bolder in his misdemeanors; so, when lately he broke into some neighbor's houses and stole money, we conferred with the authorities of the town where he was boarded, who advised his immediate committal to the Lyman School, and indeed they put it all through for us in less than a week. We have another boy, very similar, for whom we have finally put in an application for admission to the State School at Wrentham, after years of watching and unusual care.

We try not to be too much discouraged by cases such as these, for we know that for every one of them there are at least a score of boys who will well repay our best care and attention, and it is a genuine pleasure to see them grow and develop, a credit to themselves and to us. I am glad to report that 4 boys are now being prepared for confirmation, and 2 have it under consideration.

During the past year the work of placing out and supervising the girls has also been faithfully done. There are now 21 girls under our continual care, with several others whom we sometimes visit.

The questions which must be considered in the placing out of girls are somewhat different from those which must be thought of for the boys. We try to study carefully not only the surroundings of any home in which we place a young girl, but also the kind of companionship she is likely to find there, so that we may, as far as we are able, guard her from the temptations which are too often put in the way of a girl.

For many of our girls come to us with traditions, not of good but of evil, and we try to set before them the ideal of a better womanhood than they have ever known. To this end we seek to gain their confidence and friendship and to watch over them as a true friend would. We try to find for each girl the home which shall be best suited to the needs of that especial girl, to know how she fares there, to know whether she is getting there the development both moral and physical which she needs, to visit her and to hold ourselves ready to help her if any emergency or need arises.

This need sometimes comes as circumstances change in the family, or when illness brings perplexity and suffering.

We make every effort to have our girls become regular members of the parish church nearest to them, we encourage them to join the Girls' Friendly Society, and we try to gain for them the interest and friendship of some of the people of the Church. In short, we care for our girls long after they leave the Home and try in every way to keep their confidence and affection and to continue the friendly relations which we know have been greatly valued by many of them.
